

Talking about Team Taiwan World's top 12 Champions

| Activity Time: December 19, 2024 10:00 AM - 12:00 PM

| Location: 3F13, Business School, SanXia Campus, National Taipei University

| Description:

In the 2024 round of 12, the Chinese team went from not being favored all the way to winning the championship in the end, ending Japan's 27-game winning streak in international competitions, winning the first all-professional-level international championship in team history, and letting Taiwan be seen by the world. In addition to the players and coaches who are struggling on the field, there is also a strong intelligence collection team behind them, using big data to help the team analyze opponents, discuss and formulate combat strategies, and prepare for each battle at any time.

This keynote speech is honored to invite Mr. Chen Jun Ming, Deputy Convener of the Chinese Team Intelligence Collection Team of the Top 12 Competition, and Mr. Xu Le, CEO of StatsInsight of the Top 12 Intelligence Collection Team, to share the importance of the intelligence collection team and sports science data analysis in the Top 12 Competition.
